

The B 2200 EFM and B 3500 EFM series are the basic element for modular filter solutions in heavy duty design for high particle loads. The connection of a modular filter system unit to the ducting system and the design of the fan unit(s) are highly flexible and are always customer requirement matching. For even higher separation performance due to extreme particle loads, all modular filter units are also available as a tandem version (2 stage design) or as an electrostatic filter unit in combination with a mechanical filter.

Ideal for air handling systems in the field of ventilation and air-conditioning technology. For energy-efficient and high-performance air filtrations of volumes from 2000 m<sup>3</sup>/h and above.
